

Time Management

“You cannot defeat time, just can mango it” Say Henry would worth. I completely to these adages as time is like sand which slips away very easily. You cannot create time for you, but can take out time for you by managing it wisely.

Time management is an Art which is must to be known in today’s cut throat competition. People are stressed with defeat of time in their life, actually it’s their own folly as time is equal for all and is mismanaged by themselves wich lead to the shortage.

Every one has equal 24 hours to work also to rest. It depends on us that we make it an ampr time or shortage for time.
